DAILY LOG NOTES, Chief, LAR Staff, 18 March 1964

2. Leon Herman of the Library of Congress (173/8014) called 17 March to say he needed the text of a 15 March Pravda article attacking the U.S. Congressional economic committee generally and Senator Douglas specifically for their views on the Soviet economy. Herman said initially that he needed the text for research he was doing. FDD was advised. When it turned out that FDD was doing text but did not plan to complete (text would have been equivalent of 5-6 Daily Report pages) before Friday, Herman called us back to say that it was Senator Douglas himself who wanted text of the article in connection with a news conference he was holding Thursday morning 19 March and text was needed by midafternoon today so that extra copies could be made for press handouts. Apprised [redacted] of FDD of this change of emphasis. FDD finally agreed to finish text by 1330 today and a member of the economic committee staff, Mr. Guroff, came to pick it up. Guroff indicated that Senator Javits would cosponsor the Thursday news conference to give it a bipartisan appearance. [redacted] was kept advised of these developments. [redacted] noted that Mr. Warner was also advised so that he could brief the DCI. Mr. Chretien's office, through [redacted] was also notified of the above situation. (CC: [redacted])
